hacker class is a more abstract expression of our interests as a class, and of how this interest may meet those of others in the world. Hackers are not joiners. We're not often willing to sub-merge our singularity. What the times call for is a collective hack that realizes a class interest based on an alignment of

A Hacker Manifesto. But as a visionary text, a piece of aesthetic theory, a hack in Wark's own sense, A Hacker Manifesto is exemplary. By mashing up Romantic idealism with historical materialism and looping in some samples of cyberpunk futurism to boot, Wark offers a glimpse of potential new worlds.

Hacking. To the hacker there is always a surplus of possibility expressed in what is actual, the surplus of the virtual. This is the inexhaustible domain of what is real without being actual, what is not but which may be. To hack is to release the virtual into the actual, to express the difference of the real.
