The build up of British and Dominion troops began with the transfer by sea of the two West African brigades to East Africa, where they joined the two East African brigades. Two infantry divisions were formed in July 1940, the 1 (African) and 2 (African) Divisions (soon redesignated as the 11 (African) and 12 (African) Divisions), each comprising one East African and one West African brigade.

South Africa - Plusnet
For many people the epitome of the British soldier of the late Victorian period is the Redcoat who fought in southern Africa in the 1870s. This title covers the key period of the wars against the Zulu and Boers; the dramatic battles of Rorke's Drift, Isandlwana, Ulundi, Laing's Nek and Majuba are some of the most famous engagements in the history of the British Army.
