Collision Theory Flashcards | Quizlet

Collision theory. There are several factors which change the rate of reaction. One big idea links them all, called collision theory. For two particles to react, they have to collide, in the right orientation and enough energy to break the atomic bonds in the particles.

AHS Chemistry Resource Site - Unit 6 - Rates & Equilibrium

According to the collision theory, there are two ways to increase reaction rate: increase the frequency of collisions, and increase the fraction of collisions that are effective. If you speed up the particles by increasing temperature, there is a greater likelihood that they will bump into one another, and the reaction rate goes up.
