The complete review's Review: . Confessions of an Italian is presented as the account of now-octogenarian Carlo Altoviti, writing about his long life in 1858, but the author, Ippolito Nievo, wasn't even thirty when he completed, in that year, this work -- which was only published posthumously, Nievo dying in 1861. A sweeping historical novel, it's perhaps not surprising, given the author's own ...

CONFESSIONS OF AN ITALIAN gives a fine picture of the Italian Risorgimento up to the late 1850s, close to the time when the relatively young Nievo was drowned in transit from Sicily to Naples. At more than 850 pages, the novel is lengthy with a discursive style that is less direct than the Italian classic I PROMESSI SPOSI, and one imagines that a modern book editor would have advised cuts.
