Over the last twenty years materialist thinkers in the continental tradition have increasingly emphasized the category of immanence. Yet the turn to immanence has not meant the wholesale rejection of the concept of transcendence, but rather its reconfiguration in immanent or materialist terms: an immanent transcendence. Through an engagement with the work of Deleuze, Irigaray and Adorno ...

Apart from the immanence of the new materialism qualitatively shifting the many instantiations of cultural theory that exemplify the transcendental, there is a strong emphasis on the intra-action of the technological and the natural, or as Braidotti has called it, on " the ' posthuman ' predicament " which entails " much more than the definitive loss of the naturalistic paradigm " (ibid ...

20th WCP: On the Possibility of Transcendental Materialism
The reason I find it interesting to put this group of non-theistic anti-reductionists in conversation with theistic proponents of " theological materialism " has to do with how certain terms that are central to the non-theists, such as " becoming, " " emergence, " and " agency, " tend to implicate accounts of what philosopher Patrice Haynes refers to as " immanent transcendence ...
