Medicine Walk Richard Wagamese Yuwellore
'Medicine Walk' is my first novel by Richard Wagamese, and I was hooked by his prose from the very first sentence. It is the moving story of "the kid," Ojibway Franklin Starlight, and "the father," Eldon Starlight, and their journey through the dense forest of anger, regret, forgiveness and healing.

Summary. Medicine Walk opens with “the kid” and “the old man,” where the kid takes his mare out of the barn for a journey. The old man milks the cow and suggests that the kid, later revealed to be Franklin Starlight, get himself some breakfast. The kid (Starlight) says that he has eaten already, and so the old man holds out a wad of a few bills to the kid, which Frank hesitantly takes.

Regardless the experiences we gain when we take the medicine walk with Richard Wagamese are unforgettable. Encounters of bear, strong healing woman and gritty poverty are as unsettling as they are peaceful. Another great read by Wagamese and a hopeful telling for all of us who want to keep telling the truth.
