The poetry of the First World War - Pan Macmillan

A beautiful collection of poems written around the first world war, mainly by British poets. I took my time reading this as it could be depressing at times. The poems recount the many aspects of the war, from the call for war, the situation in battlefield, to the aftermath of it (the death of your comrades, facing your own death, surviving and returning home).

Poetry of the First World War by Marcus Clapham

Poetry as an art form predates written text. The earliest poetry is believed to have been recited or sung, employed as a way of remembering oral history, genealogy, and law. Poetry is often closely related to musical traditions, and the earliest poetry exists in the form of hymns (such as the work of Sumerian priestess Enheduanna), and other types of song such as chants.
