The Tartine formula lists an 8 hour cool fermentation in the fridge but 18-20 hours seems to be the sweet spot for me as my bread takes on a complex flavor with this extended fermentation time. It also seems to help open up the crumb more than what you would typically see; I strive for that light and soft interior.

Tartine is one of the most famous bakeries in SF, and this new location does not sell short. My favorites are the bread (Country is my favorite here), morning buns (they're large and good enough for a substantial breakfast), and savory scones. I'm also a fan of all of their vegetarian options, but those are my go-tos.
