The Cholesterol Delusion - LewRockwell - Lew Rockwell

Victims of heart attacks have cholesterol levels evenly distributed throughout the range of values. In fact, more than half of heart attack victims have cholesterol levels in the low normal range. A goodly portion of The Cholesterol Delusion is devoted to a searing critique of the major studies that supposedly prove the theory. To strengthen his case, Curtis explains the limitations of epidemiology, and then will shock many readers with his revelation that cause of death—a fundamental ...
