I'd say it's more like a Go Premium, bearing in mind the 5200 has a built-in SIM. There are a few additional features on the Premium vs. the 5200, however these are software only (IFTTT integration and trip statistics) - the hardware's identical. Personally I'd stick with the 5200, as in my opinion the extra bells and whistles are of questionable value - certainly when considering the extra cost.

Just recently upgraded my GO-5200 to the Premium version (5") and I cannot find any difference in both devices other than that the screen now has turned very pale.
